Dear Hiring Authorities

I am presently looking for a position in your company. I would be grateful if you would consider my application. I am a Software Development student at the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology (SAIT), graduating in April 2024. I am confident that the skills and experience I possess would provide value to your team.

During my program, I practiced and became proficient in the theories and abilities required to carry out the duties of my position. In my course, I increased my understanding of programming foundations by working with C#, Java, and SQL databases, as well as newer technologies like Python and JavaScript. We also have a network course that taught the fundamentals. I learn the fundamentals of web development, including HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, as well as industry-standard technologies like TypeScript and React.js. During my winter break, I built the website Q-notes using react.js and redux. It enables users to add, remove, amend, and delete notes in Firebase. I am certain that I will be able to collaborate well, solve difficulties, and learn quickly.

I have some experience in the CNC industry, and I was obsessed with CNC programming, I enjoyed programming a code to accomplish the blueprint, but it's hard to do it, because it requires a lot of resources to implement. I made a mature decision to alter my profession to the IT field after much thought. I am confident that my unique background, understanding, and open-minded approach will help me succeed in this field. I would be willing to take any training provided by the company to improve my skills and optimize work accomplishment. I believe the team and environment will offer excellent mentorship and growth opportunities.

I am available to meet with you to discuss my resume and skills and how they would be beneficial for the positions of both of them.

I can be reached at the above telephone number or email.

Thank you for considering my letter of interest.

Sincerely

Qiaomu Lei
